

7th International Conference on the Humanities

27th and 28th of November 2025

Reimagining Humanities: Evolving Perspectives

The 21st century presents unique challenges and opportunities for the humanities. This conference aims to explore how these disciplines can adapt and thrive in a rapidly changing world. By examining the core values that underpin the humanities, we seek to understand their relevance and impact in contemporary society. We invite scholars to discuss innovative approaches and new perspectives in the field.

Conference Tracks

1. Cultural Values and Identity

This track will examine how cultural values are expressed, preserved, and transformed through the humanities. It will address issues of cultural identity, heritage, and diversity.

2. Educational Values in Humanities

This track will focus on the educational role of the humanities in fostering critical thinking, creativity, and empathy. It will explore innovative teaching methods and the impact of humanities education on students.

3. Fostering Interdisciplinary approaches

This track will highlight the importance of collaboration between humanities and other disciplines to address complex issues from multiple perspectives

4. New frontiers in Humanities Research

This track will aim on the future of Humanities research in higher education, adapting to a digital, globalized world.

5. Reconciliation in Humanities

This track will explore the role of the humanities in fostering reconciliation, healing, and understanding across cultural, social, and political divides. It will examine historical narratives, memory, and restorative justice in shaping collective identities and promoting peace.